

THE BIG REMEMBERING

A performance piece by and for communities, families, companies

Like my piece, Facedances, this is a piece that can be made and remade in different situations.

Take a big local event, something celebratory like an election, a sports team winning a championship, starting business, a carnival or an anniversary, a birth

Anyone can participate who has some memory or association with the event.

Encourage all ages to be involved, so best to choose an event not too old ( within the last 20 years). Whatever it is, an important event memorable and celebratory.

In an age where there is increasing distrust of human memory, where our experience and communication is increasingly digitally mediated, THE BIG REMEMBERING is a piece that brings people together through an act of collective remembering,
